

What We Believe About Biblical Marriage and Sexuality
November 12, 2023

Romans 8:28-29, Genesis 1.27-29, Ephesians 5.22-33

God always wants the _____ for us in the way we live our lives.

God created us to bring him glory and he created us to be in an _____ relationship with him.

_____ was meant, in part, to give us companionship, joy, intimacy, and happiness with another human being.

God uses the metaphor of a marriage to represent what our relationship with _____ should be like all throughout the Bible.

The way that God has set up his relationship with the _____ is meant to be the way that a husband and wife work together in a marriage.

God created sexual intimacy to be expressed _____ within the biblical covenant of marriage.

From the very beginning, _____ designed marriage to be between one man and one woman.

When we live out marriage the way God designed us to, it is one of the most incredible _____ God has given to us.
